The Galveston News, of the 17th, thus notice a violent storm at that place and its effects; On Tuesday, we were visited by a violent wind and rain storm from the North, commencing about one o'clock r. M. The morning had been rainy, the wind coming from another course, but suddenly coming round. An im-monse black cloud was massed high up and wide in the northern borizon, and a storm mis hing over the main land, obscuring every object and gradually coming toward the city. Saon the waters of the bay were one mass o angry foam, as he as the eye could reach, an specifly the strand was covered by them. Pears were entertained for the safety of the steamer Gen. Rusk, which was anchored in Roll. var channel, but she got up steam and buttled bravely against the fierce howling blast. The steamboats and sailing craft, at the different wharves, felt the effects of the gale more or le severly. One steambout is reported to have ind her chimneys blown down; and we lear of damage, more or less serious to other wessels. The railroad track was somewhat samaged between the city and the bridge; but the energetic pres dent, Mr. Brown, and active superinte Mr. Nichols, will cost have repairs much-; indeed, they be not already effected.

The News has the following from the northern A letter of the 19th ult., from Camp Jackson on the northern frontier, to the Paris (Launar Advocate, says Buffalo Hump, one of the Comanche chiefs, had come into the Reserve with thirty-two warriers and fen women. Near Fort Cobb one hundred and fifty Kioways were encamped. Only twelve men garrisoned the fort, and they were to leave in a few slays. Major Burleson (H. E.
